Key stock takeaways: We expect the stock to trade modestly higher following a strong quarter and guidance that were well ahead of the Street, partly offset by modest gross margin downside and set against elevated investor expectations heading into the quarter. Similar to peers, Micron continues to see tight supply/demand conditions persisting in both DRAM and NAND through 2027 and 2028. Micron has also signed 10 additional long-term agreements, in total amounting to ~35% of expected revenue through FY30 - with ~75% of these containing structured pricing frameworks. We continue to believe these agreements are a positive for the stock which could help increase the multiple on "peak" earnings investors are willing to pay for the stock. At the same time, the industry continues to accelerate supply additions to help satisfy customer demand - although we believe this will not be enough to drive any meaningful slack in the market until 2028 at the earliest. We remain Neutral-rated on the stock given our view of roughly balanced risk/reward at current levels, but would consider being more constructive on the stock if we see continued supply growth discipline continuing across the industry through 2028 and beyond.

Read-through to our coverage: We expect a positive read-across for our Semi Cap equipment coverage (primarily AMAT (Buy) and LRCX (Buy)) given the uptick to CapEx guidance for FY27, as well as management's commentary on cleanroom and equipment pull-ins. We also expect a positive initial reaction for SNDK (Buy) in our coverage given the company's positive commentary on NAND supply dynamics.

Quarterly results were above the Street: Micron reported revenue of $54.23 bn, well above GS at $51.91 bn and the Street at $50.95 bn, while gross margin of 87.0% was just below GS at 87.3% but in line with the Street at 86.9%. Non-GAAP EPS of $33.42 was above GS at $32.54 and well above the Street at $31.63. DRAM revenue of $39.8 bn was just above GS at $39.19 bn and well above the Street at $38.45 bn, while NAND revenue of $14.1 bn was well above GS at $12.53 bn and the Street at $12.28 bn.

- Strategic Customer Agreements: Micron provided updated details of its strategic customer agreements. The company has now signed 26 agreements (up from 16 last quarter) across a range of datacenter, consumer, automotive, and other end markets. The agreements are generally five-year agreements with annual "take or pay" revenue targets with associated up-front customer deposits ($32bn in total thus far). The company currently has signed agreements

Goldman Sachs does and seeks to do business with companies covered in its research reports. As a result, investors should be aware that the firm may have a conflict of interest that could affect the objectivity of this report. Investors should consider this report as only a single factor in making their investment decision. representing about 35% of its anticipated revenue through FY30, and expects to cover ~50% of its expected revenue over time. About 75% of these agreements now contain structured pricing, and management noted that the aggregate amount of committed revenue for agreements signed represents ~$150bn over five years at floor prices, at gross margins above prior peak levels. These agreements include relationships with four very large customers (two hyperscalers) and three medium-sized customers.

- Manufacturing and supply: The company is working to accelerate its fab construction and production plans across its global footprint, and CapEx is expected to step up meaningfully in FY27 - with over half of the FY27 increase driven by construction to support the expansion of HBM and conventional DRAM capacity. From a $10.8bn CapEx base in FY4Q26, Micron expects a sequential increase to $11.5bn in FY1Q27, $13.5bn in FY2Q27, and over $25bn in FY2H27 - and we now model FY27 CapEx of $55bn. The company has pulled in its first Idaho fab to deliver output in mid-CY27; its Singapore facility is expected to deliver output in 2HCY28. Micron is accelerating its cleanroom completion for its Hiroshima fab to late CY28, and has now broken ground on its New York fab for supply in CY30.
- DRAM: Micron now expects to grow industry DRAM bit supply in the mid-20% range in CY26, slightly above its prior view. Micron expects low-20% bit growth for the industry in CY27 and CY28, with the market tightening further relative to CY26. Although management did not update its market commentary, it previously noted it expects that from an HBM baseline TAM of $35 bn in 2025, the industry can grow revenue at a 40% CAGR to over $100 bn by 2028. The company expects its supply of HBM products to continue to ramp throughout the year. Micron also noted its custom HBM4E product development with Nvidia.
- NAND: Micron now expects to grow NAND bit supply slightly below the low-20% range in CY26 that it expects for the industry. Management also expects NAND bit supply to grow in the mid-20% range in 2027 and 2028, with supply remaining constrained in both years. We expect the company to drive bit supply mainly through equipment upgrades and technology shrinks through 2027, as Micron's greenfield fab is not expected to come online until mid-2028.

FY1Q revenue and EPS guidance is well above the Street, with gross margins below. Revenue was guided to $61.5 bn at the midpoint, which is well above GS at $57.70 bn and the Street at $57.57 bn. Non-GAAP gross margin was guided to 86.25%, below GS at 88.1% and the Street at 87.4% as a result of the expected sale of higher-cost inventory in the quarter given the impact of higher compensation expenses, an effect which should partly abate in FY2Q. Non-GAAP EPS guidance of $37.15 - $39.15 (midpoint of $38.15) was above GS at $37.06 and well above the Street at $35.81.

Estimate changes. We raise our near-term non-GAAP EPS estimates by an average of ~10% to reflect higher revenue assumptions (see detailed estimates below — Exhibit 3).

Price target. We raise our price target to $1,250 from $1,100 prior, which is based on a 18X multiple (unchanged) applied to our normalized EPS estimate of $70.00 (up from $62.00 due to higher revenue and margin assumptions). Key upside/downside risks include: (1) continued execution on the company's HBM roadmap and share gain, (2) sizable step-up (above current expectations) in HBM content for AI accelerators, (3) continued signs of CXMT gaining DRAM market share, negatively impacting pricing dynamics.

We are Neutral rated on MU. The DRAM and NAND markets remain very healthy - which should drive continued tailwinds for Micron's business. In addition, we see the company's additional disclosure on its customer agreements as a meaningful positive which should bolster the durability of earnings over the course of the cycle. However, we see potential risk of slowing HBM price momentum in 2028 given the prospects of meaningful supply additions in 2028, which keeps us Neutral for now. We could consider being more constructive on the stock if we see continued supply growth discipline continuing across the industry in the long run, or if we see additional evidence of customers agreements which could further bolster floor pricing across the business.

GS Factor Profile

The Goldman Sachs Factor Profile provides investment context for a stock by comparing key attributes to the market (i.e. our universe of rated stocks) and its sector peers. The four key attributes depicted are: Growth, Financial Returns, Multiple (e.g. valuation) and Integrated (a composite of Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple). Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple are calculated by using normalized ranks for specific metrics for each stock. The normalized ranks for the metrics are then averaged and converted into percentiles for the relevant attribute. The precise calculation of each metric may vary depending on the fiscal year, industry and region, but the standard approach is as follows:

Growth is based on a stock's forward-looking sales growth, EBITDA growth and EPS growth (for financial stocks, only EPS and sales growth), with a higher percentile indicating a higher growth company. Financial Returns is based on a stock's forward-looking ROE, ROCE and CROCI (for financial stocks, only ROE), with a higher percentile indicating a company with higher financial returns. Multiple is based on a stock's forward-looking P/E, P/B, price/dividend (P/D), EV/EBITDA, EV/FCF and EV/Debt Adjusted Cash Flow (DACF) (for financial stocks, only P/E, P/B and P/D), with a higher percentile indicating a stock trading at a higher multiple. The Integrated percentile is calculated as the average of the Growth percentile, Financial Returns percentile and (100% - Multiple percentile).

Financial Returns and Multiple use the Goldman Sachs analyst forecasts at the fiscal year-end at least three quarters in the future. Growth uses inputs for the fiscal year at least seven quarters in the future compared with the year at least three quarters in the future (on a per-share basis for all metrics).

For a more detailed description of how we calculate the GS Factor Profile, please contact your GS representative.

M&A Rank

Across our global coverage, we examine stocks using an M&A framework, considering both qualitative factors and quantitative factors (which may vary across sectors and regions) to incorporate the potential that certain companies could be acquired. We then assign a M&A rank as a means of scoring companies under our rated coverage from 1 to 3, with 1 representing high (30%-50%) probability of the company becoming an acquisition target, 2 representing medium (15%-30%) probability and 3 representing low (0%-15%) probability. For companies ranked 1 or 2, in line with our standard departmental guidelines we incorporate an M&A component into our target price. M&A rank of 3 is considered immaterial and therefore does not factor into our price target, and may or may not be discussed in research.

Buy (B), Neutral (N), Sell (S) Analysts recommend stocks as Buys or Sells for inclusion on various regional Investment Lists. Being assigned a Buy or Sell on an Investment List is determined by a stock's total return potential relative to its coverage universe. Any stock not assigned as a Buy or a Sell on an Investment List with an active rating (i.e., a stock that is not Rating Suspended, Not Rated, Early-Stage Biotech, Coverage Suspended or Not Covered), is deemed Neutral. Each region manages Regional Conviction Lists, which are selected from Buy rated stocks on the respective region's Investment Lists and represent investment recommendations focused on the size of the total return potential and/or the likelihood of the realization of the return across their respective areas of coverage. The addition or removal of stocks from such Conviction Lists are managed by the Investment Review Committee or other designated committee in each respective region and do not represent a change in the analysts' investment rating for such stocks.

Total return potential represents the upside or downside differential between the current share price and the price target, including all paid or anticipated dividends, expected during the time horizon associated with the price target. Price targets are required for all covered stocks. The total return potential, price target and associated time horizon are stated in each report adding or reiterating an Investment List membership.

Coverage Universe: A list of all stocks in each coverage universe is available by primary analyst, stock and coverage universe at

Not Rated (NR). The investment rating, target price and earnings estimates (where relevant) are removed pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when Goldman Sachs is acting in an advisory capacity in a merger or in a strategic transaction involving this company, when there are legal, regulatory or policy constraints due to Goldman Sachs' involvement in a transaction, and in certain other circumstances. Early-Stage Biotech (ES). An investment rating and a target price are not assigned pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when this company has neither a drug, treatment or medical device that has passed a Phase II clinical trial nor a license to distribute a post-Phase II drug, treatment or medical device. Rating Suspended (RS). Goldman Sachs Research has suspended the investment rating and price target for this stock, because there is not a sufficient fundamental basis for determining an investment rating or target price. The previous investment rating and target price, if any, are no longer in effect for this stock and should not be relied upon. Coverage Suspended (CS). Goldman Sachs has suspended coverage of this company. Not Covered (NC). Goldman Sachs does not cover this company.
